TRADE I MONISTS AND IRELAND.

PREMIER APPREHENSIVE OF MORE TROUBLE.

London, July 24.

The official report of the deputation from the Trade Union Congress to the Premier, to present the Congress resolutions on the subject of Ireland, shows that Mr. Lloyd George, replying to the spokesman, Mr. J. H. Thomas, said Labour's scheme of Home Rule | was truncated dominion Home Rule. It was idle to discuss such a matter except with somebody able to deliver the goods, as the deputation was not. He saw no sign that Sinn Fein was prepared to discuss anything except absolute independence, which could not be discussed.

Mr. Thomas declared that a bridge between the two extremes of Irish opinion could be found through the Parliamentary Committee. Mr. Lloyd George replied: "You may know more than I do. 1 am convinced that things on the other side are going to become very much worse and very much sterner. We cannot allow this to go on; therefore, anybody anxious for peace must act quickly."

Mr. Thomas, after further discussion, said they would get Company, which has been held A brief examination will suffice into touch with the Irish Trade Union Congress. # FRENCH MISSION TO POLAND.

London, July 23.

The advance of the Russian armies into Poland continues to be of absorbing interest in diplomatic circles. M. Jusserand, the French Ambassador to Washington, started yesterday from Paris, where he was on vacation, going to Warsaw as the Head of the French Mission, which will confer with the Polish leaders regarding the Allies' assistance. Accompanying M. Jusserand were General Weygand, Marshal Foch's Chief-of-Staff, and the Secretary to the Ambassador, M. Vignon, as representative of M. Millerand.

> The colony in general has found its feet after the war and bids fair to maintain its hold upon the great trade, with all t is part of the world which has made it what it is. In social and political lines, too, there has been an awakening. The colony now has in hand more public improvements especially of the sort that work for general social advanceof general progress abroad than has been noted for many years. The reaction from the war is in full awing, and there is every reason to anticipate that it will have notable results. Financially. the December quarter was one of great uncertainty and danger. Silver exchange rose higher and higher as the year closed. The result of the high exchange was not only that exports became more and more difficult to move. it became a close balancing of interests between the sale of local stocks, securities, and other property for remittance to the United States and Great Britain and the fixing of high exchange to cover business transactions next yest.

Aside from the need of more stable conditions than those which have resulted from the war there is an increasing feeling that, with wilver exchange where it now in the course of trading in the Far East is not on a sound basis. High ex hange also is reviving the agitation for the establishment of a gold standard for China's currency. It seems impossible that the trade of China and Hongkong can adjust itself to world conditions other than by some very radical permanent means. Export trade from China cannot exist long under present conditions. while import trade must soon fall off if the means of settling international belances cannot be more effectively adjusted. The most scute phase of the situation has been relieved somewhat for the time being, by the action of the United States Government in arranging for the sale of $35,000,000 worth of silver in the Far East through three American banks for the financing of American trade. While at first there was some disposition to criticise the national nature of the arrangement, the general feeling has been the arrangemen: was good for all concerned in that it enables all banks to buy silver at a fair price. However, the amount of silver thus allocated is not enough to maintain the present situation very long, and further drafts upon American specie stocks will have to be

STORM SIGNALS.

The extremely interesting and informative contributed article which we published in our issue of Friday with regard to the Local and China Coast Storm Signals has brought forth a very sensible suggestion from a correspondent. As matters stand at present, the latest detailed information regarding any typhoons that may be reported is given in the China Coast Code, displayed on Blackhead's Hill, but, as "Propellor" says, these signals are not very distinctly seen in Hongkong even in the best of weather, whilst in the rain squalls that frequently precede by the Empress of Asia. thad weather they cannot be read at all from the island side of the harbour. The idea ha puts forward is that when these symbols are displayed they should be repeated on the shipping news board at the Post Office and at the entrance to the Harbour Office by means of flat wooden ing here by the Empress of Asia quotation for sizes from 14 inch consequently old folks would not shapes, painted white, which could easily be done on telephonic famous star of the Paramount godown, and for 14 inch upwards and found guilty. It is so seldom that "Mr Punch" can be detected in an inaccuracy (writes a correspondent) that an example in a recent issue of his journal may be worth noting, especially as the point involves a very prevalent mis-apprehension. On p. 429 the following paragraph is quoted from an "evening paper":-"All is not plane sailing yet for the German in search of foreign markets." Punch's comment on this makes it evident that "plane sailing" is taken to be a misspelling or misprint for "plain sailing." But any sailor knows that the latter common form is simply the misunderstanding of the landsman. In navigation the calculation of short distances is called "plane sailing" because it is possible without appreciabe error to assume that so much of the ocean is a plane surface. ## BEAMISH BEATEN.

JAPANESE VICTORY [OVER DAVIS CUP PLAYER.

There has been no more exhilarating lawn tennis match this season than the brilliant game at Beckenham in the Kent championahipa between A. E. Beamiah and Zenzo Shimidzu, says "Regent" in the Drilly News. As soon as the pair took the court spectators thocked to it from all parts of the ground, and there they remained while three splendid sets were fought out. East beat West after the result had, more than once, been nalanced on a razor edge, and after seeing every stroke of the encounter I can only write that Shimden deserved his victory. The metit of his performance lay in the fact that he heat Beamish at his hest, for England's Davis | cent per analis on Dang Balances, and on cop player was right, at the top of his form except for momentary t "lapses -- which, however, cost him the game. Shimidan was just a small! little man in a round white THE BANK OF EAST ASIA LTD. bundle of electric energy. A Panama han he ilitted about the court like a will of the wisp, ret, trieving everything by sheer amazing mobility. His brown. pleasant face, with its scrubby little moustache, was set in an Paid up Capital $2,000,000.00 expression of determination, but every now and then there was a thash of white teeth and Hiked the We Chira shou Sin. way he could pull out a laugh We Ken Ying Po. when the luck was against him. Mr. P. K. Kwok. Beamish, too, is a great sportsman on the court, and the game, was a most-lone in every, wayhow I wish some of the dishard, prejudiced opponents of lawn terms could have seen it. They must have responded to the thrill and drama of it. Beamish was fully expected to win by the cogniscenti, for after all, he is a very great player at his best seasoned in the highest class of lawn tennis, whereas Shimidza a fortnight ago was hardly known outside the circle) of his own friends his name conveyed nothing to the sperting | man-in-the-street.

mese had met his match in the nincent lawn tennis, won 6-4. and won convincinally at that. His play was a brilliant combination of graceful "style" and 27. 40. 5%, respectively. severity. True, he kept well at the back of the court, but from there he drove with pace and precision, and every shot on forehand and backband was in the classical style.

In the second set Beamish was i at 5-5, and the game seemed very nearly over. But Zenzo Shimidzu had other ideas on the subject, and he drew up and eventually won the set at 8-6. Beamish was week and faltering ar precisely the moment when one last big effort was called for. His service, for the most part extrainely good, deteriorated, and he muffed one or two "sitters."

I: was all a game in the third set, and yet for my own partsmanil I think most people shared the feeling-it always beemed that Beamish had lost his great chance and that Shimidzu would win. At "4 all" the Englishman had still a fifty and fifty chance. "but again he struck a weak patch, and Shimidzu took the next two games, the set and the match, afterdence had been called several times in the final game.
